

SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.—Acts 4:39

Mabel, always busy, ain't been so busy in a long time as she has been with grandson little John Eads. While, like many kids of the day, John looks with a very callous eye on Santa Claus, he is ever busy getting things that go with Santa. He barely gets thru with candy before Mabel has to get him a pop, and he is never more alert than when a prospective visit to Sam Wades pops up. He is ever ready to discard a pirate outfit to get aviation clothes. Like most kids, he wants to find out what Santa is going to gimme.

If there are more folks in Grenada Christmas Eve than there were at the Christmas Parade held here on Wednesday, and if Christmas spirit generates more power as time passes, Christmas, just 23 days away, will indeed be a momentous day when it comes.

It looked like everyone and his brother, or cousin, was in town Wednesday.

With such Christmas spirit in the air, it behooves us to say that, pretty soon, we are going to turn Julia Talbert loose with Christmas greeting ads for our issue scheduled for December 23, just prior to the real Christmas Day. She will show you beautiful designs to dress-up your ad.

The Christmas spirit must have inspired Supervisor John W. Bowen, who came in Wednesday and paid his annual dues.

We have not cut many folk off and have not been dogging you about your subscriptions, hence, our mailing list has got in a helluva shape and we, therefore, urge you and you and you to check up on your expiration dates and come in to see us, so as to give some Christmas spirit to us while all of this is going on.

By mail Tuesday came our first order for a Christmas gift subscription from Mrs. Sam Gillon who is sending the GCW to her sister, Mrs. R. H. Cheatham of Yazoo City, as a gift.

What this dude, James T. Duke of Jackson wanted with a subscription we just don't know, but he got one for himself Wednesday.

John W. Bradley, a big wildlifer, just walked by on Growing Green Street.

I just don't know whether this cold unpleasant weather has dampened the enthusiasm of Mrs. Matt Cooley as a fisherman, but such weather has put a big crimp in the enthusiasm of most of us.

In an Alabama Graveyard
Beneath this tombstone my wife does lie—
She's at rest now — and so am I.

It occurred to Mrs. R. D. Dubard Tuesday that he subscription was due, so at Tommie Darras coffee emporium, she pitched in $3 and this is her receipt.

It looks from the picture that Thomas Roy Chamberlain is fixing to get a mighty pretty bride.

Thomas Roy wanted to know what the picture in the paper would cost him, but I told him that a country paper like the GCW would never go broke putting brides, soldiers and babies in the paper. That is true so far, as we have published numerous soldiers, babies and brides in the GCW without charge thru out the years and we ain't gone broke YET.

Signs are multiplying that a lotta folks are going to run for a lotta offices next year, but Jimmie Sides, a potential candidate alienated himself from that group last week in a piece in both papers. He says he is going to help Coleman, a friend of his youth. I don't know whether I could be called "helping" Coleman, but I am going to vote for him.

See from the cash book where Eva Baker is sending her old friend, Gladys Rile, the GCW for a year. Hiddy, Gladys.

Little John Eads, our grandson, has been visiting us lately. John went to see Santa at Sears Tuesday with his grandmaw, but John, who is sometimes quite anti-social, looked at the old gent as if he wanted to know "who is you."

Giant Christmas Parade Held Here Wednesday Was Beautiful Affair

The work of the Chamber of Commerce, particularly of its Christmas Parade Committee, Mrs. Wade Rice and Bob Sartwell co-chairmen, of the VFW who "policed" the line of march and of the many firms and individuals who provided the beautiful floats, of the scouts and scout-masters, of local military units, of our local police force who provided very courteous helpfulness and of the neighboring high-school bands who, in their beautiful uniforms, were interspersed in the 2-mile line of march, paid off in enjoyment to the hosts of folks who had thronged in to Grenada to see it.

The helicopter, driven by Capt. Fred Theisman, added a new "touch" to this civic parade as it traveled back and forth over the line of march which came up and down Main Street that afternoon.

Seeing the parade itself which marched thru solidly-masses of humanity all up Main Street and around the square waiting for the parade and getting away from the parade when it was over consumed practically all of the time in Grenada Wednesday.

At 3:30 a group of carolers under the direction of Mr. Batson of the First Baptist Church heralded the approach of the parade.

Indianola High School band gave a public concert, much enjoyed by the crowd before the parade.

Bill Morris, commander of the local VFW was the parade master.

Santa Claus was on one of the floats and gave out joy and greetings to the many kids who were along cheering.

The following floats were in the parade:

VFW and Ladies' Auxiliary; Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, Junior Auxiliary, Nat. Guard, Trusty's, Dattel's, Jitney-Jungle, Morris & Jones Revells, Nelson Stricklin, Horton Dry Goods, Puckett and Brown, Monte Cristo, the Druggists, Liles Produce, Phillips Lumber Co., Miss. Power and Light Co., Hi-Y Club, Methodist Church, Chamber of Commerce and a Surprise Float.

Prizes were awarded as follows: 1st, Monte Cristo; 2nd Kiwanis; 3rd, Puckett and Brown, and honorable mention to: Methodist Church, Jr. Auxiliary, Lions Club. Certificates went to Phillips Lumber Co., Dattel's and Mississippi Power and Light Co.

Mrs. Virginia Hubbard, manager of Grenada County Chamber of Commerce thanks each and everyone who helped make this the best parade Grenada ever staged.

Unquestionably this was Grenada's biggest parade.

Mrs. Puckett, 84, Dies In Columbus

Funeral services were held at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at Columbus, Miss. for Mrs. Matilda Boyd Puckett, aged 84, who died at six o'clock Saturday night. Mrs. Puckett was the mother of Andrew C. Puckett, owner of Puckett and Brown, the Goodyear store, here.

Mrs. Puckett was a native of Kosciusko. She had been married to W. Banker and industrialist, for 58 years, banker and industrialist, for 58 years. Surviving are her husband; six sons, A. C. Puckett, Allen Puckett and W. L. all of Columbus; Dr. N. N. of Cleveland, Ohio; Houston of Baltimore, O. and Dr. Niles Puckett of Phoenix, Arizona, and a daughter, Mrs. W. E. McGee of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ketchum, John McCreight, Durward B. Smith and Fred Simmons of Grenada attended the funeral services at the First Baptist Church in Columbus.

"Miss" Rosa Was 96 Tuesday

Mrs. Rosa Thompson, a grand old war horse of this county, was 96 on Tuesday, November 30, 1954.

"Miss" Rosa, or "Granny", as she is called by most folks, is the daughter of the late Squire and Mrs. Holly and has lived most of her life in Pearidge, Grenada County, but Pearidge was in Tallahatchie County at the time of her birth, November 30, 1858.

Left as a widow over half a century ago, she kept what she had and improved it and, today, has 6 living children, 17 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren, most of whom have made and are making fine marks in the world. Presently she is making her home with one of her daughters, Mrs. J. M. Talbert in Grenada.

Time, in its inexorable march, finally crept up on her though she so lived for about 96 years that she did not ask odds of anyone and it looks that she will be one of the few folks of Grenada County who watched the passing scene for a full century.

Best wishes to "Miss" Rosa, a grand old character.

Grenada Loses Season's Final Game To Bruce 19-25 (By Hugh Ketchum)

The Grenada Bulldogs, coached by Bob Ellard and Jerry Taylor, concluded the 10-game 1954 grid season last week by dropping a 25 to 19 decision to Bruce. The season's record was five wins against five losses during which the Bulldogs scored 209 points against 229 for the opposition. Grenada defeated North Carrollton 39 to 13; Houston, 34 to 13; Okolona 19 to 7; Aberdeen 32 to 7; and Charleston 26 to 19, while losing to West Point 33 to 0; Amory 27 to 6; Starkville 58 to 28, Oxford 27 to 6 and to Bruce 25 to 19.

Statistics bear out the season's record. The Bulldogs scored a total of 108 first downs against 116 for the combined opponents; gained 555 yards on 27 pass completions in 79 tries against 616 yards for the enemy on 40 completions in 112 attempts and gained 2450 yards rushing against 2199 for the opposition. The Bulldogs intercepted six passes and had 10 of their tosses pilfered.

Other phases of the records showed Grenada penalized 380 yards against 276 for the opponents. The Bulldogs had to punt 22 times and the enemy 21 times, and Grenada lost the ball on fumbles 23 times while the opponents were losing the ball 26 times on bobbles.

Individually, it was a great offensive season for Ray Freeman 174-pound fullback who was named to the All Star Little Ten team for the second consecutive year. He scored 113 points, gained 1054 yards on 161 rushing plays.

Bill Raper developed into a fine running back this season, scoring 42 points and gaining a total of 729 yards while losing 19 in 106 efforts for an average of 6.7 yards per try. Shafer Spence netted 289 yards in 52 ball carrying efforts for a 5.6 average and Johnny Goza added a net 78 yards in 40 tries. Jake Gibbs, who will be counted on for heavy offensive duty next year, gained 40 yards in nine tries during the three games he played.

Following Freeman and Raper in the scoring department was Spence

Robert B. "Bob" Townes was found dead in bed Saturday morning, November 27, 1954, apparently having died of a heart attack during the night. As this tragic news bruited about Grenada Saturday, the greatness of the community shock became more and more apparent.

Bob was born in Coffeeville 55 years ago and was one of the sons of the late R. B. Townes and Mrs. Mollie Winter Townes. Most of his life was spent in Grenada, his family having moved here in 1899. He was a graduate of Grenada High School. Later he attended the A. and M. (later, Miss. State) College. One of his first jobs was working for B. C. Duncan, one of the big drygoods merchants of Grenada of that era. Still later, he became a big part of the sales staff of Lamar Life Insurance Co. of Jackson, where his skill as a salesman brought him many, many rewards. He worked for and with Lamar until his death.

Bob was always an immaculate dresser, taking after his father in that respect. While nobody ever called him an orator, he was "hands on his feet" in any gathering and he was frequently called on to preside on many public occasions and, in each such case, acquitted himself creditably.

Each his father and his mother were members of very oldtime families of this section - the Townes and the Winters, both of whom came to with 18 points; Gibbs and End James Bailey with 12 points each, and Buddy Lott and Tackle Gary Waldrop with six points each.

Graduation will take eight players from the squad. They are ends James Bailey and J. F. Morrison; Tackle Gary Waldrop; Guard Marvin Cutler, Center Richard Forbes and backs Ray Freeman, Bill Raper and John Goza.

this then new country over a century ago.

In May 1925 he and Miss Mary Roane were married. Two sons, R. B. Jr., now a medical student at Tulane and Drew, a dental student in New Orleans, came to this union. All three survive, as does the mother of the deceased, Mrs. Mollie Winter Townes. A brother, Ben W. Townes died last year.

Bob was a member of the Presbyterian Church and was a deacon in that organization. He was a dyed-in-the-wool member of the Grenada Lions Club and took much interest in this worthy organization and was often honored by his fellow members. After services conducted by the pastor, Rev. Taylor Clarke, and Rev. Felix Sutphin of the Methodist Church, at the Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon, his body was interred in Woodlawn Memorial Park where all of the deacons and elders of the Presbyterian Church were honorary pallbearers and when six lifelong friends were active pallbearers.

Dr. Gum To Lead "Deepening Revival" December 5-10

Dr. Walter C. Gum, outstanding Methodist District Superintendent of Richmond, Va., will be the guest minister for a "deepening revival" at the Grenada Methodist Church, December 5-10.

Dr. Gum will preach twice daily, on Sunday at 11 o'clock and at 7:30; Monday thru Friday at 7 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The morning services will center about the theme, "The Holy Spirit", and the service will conclude in plenty of time for school children and others to be at their work by 8. In the evening Dr. Gum will discuss such points as church attendance, Bible reading, prayer, tithing, witnessing, and family religion.

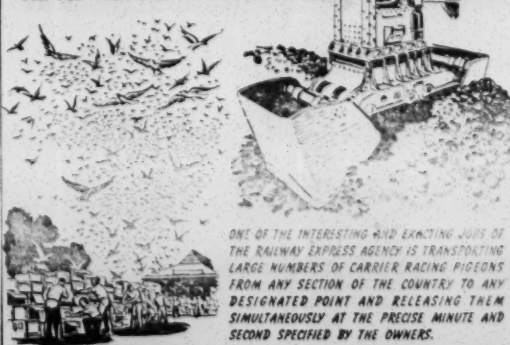

The major emphasis of this week is to deepen the spiritual life of those persons already committed to Christ and members of the church.

These services are a part of a simultaneous effort by 24 Methodist Churches in the 13 counties of the Greenwood District. At Holcomb Rev. J. T. Humphries of Corinth will be preaching; at Coffeeville the guest minister will be Reverend W. V. Stokes of Batesville, Miss., and at Kilmichael, Rev. J. A. George, pastor at Water Valley, will be the guest preacher.

AN IDEA OR TWO

Cherries are simple enough to pit with a five-and-dime cherry pitter. Stuff them with cream cheese and top each with a piece of California walnut. They make a very tasty and pretty addition to any summer fruit salad plate.

There's a new picnic size cat of ripe olives on the market which will be a perfect size to take along with your other goodies for outdoor meals. Be sure to remember a can opener so you can olives at eating time. Slice peach half filled with frozen blueberries.

That's both of them. In a bowl with a sour cream cheese. The pump

prunes are perfect to pit and serve with cottage or cream cheese. They lend heartiness to the delicateness of the summer fruits.

Instead of hollowing out the tomatoes for a stuffed salad we've found it is much simpler to cut them almost through into six wedges and spread the sections apart. Place on a garnished salad plate and fill with a salad mixture of chopped hard-cooked eggs, wedges of ripe olives, sliced celery and mayonnaise with a bit of mustard and lemon juice added to the dressing.

An easy way to dice an avocado for a green salad is to first cut it into halves and remove the seed and skin. Then turn the flat side down on a cutting board and cut into cubes of desired size. The less you handle this delicate fruit, the less it will bruise.

Today's Trend: Crop Irrigation Through Water Pumping

A simple shed like this can shelter pumping equipment at the well or other irrigation water sources.

Most common type of irrigation installation in this part of the country, and generally the most economical, is the flow type through open ditches. Water is siphoned from the irrigation ditch through rows where needed.

Irrigation Pays Off Even In Normal Years, Survey Shows

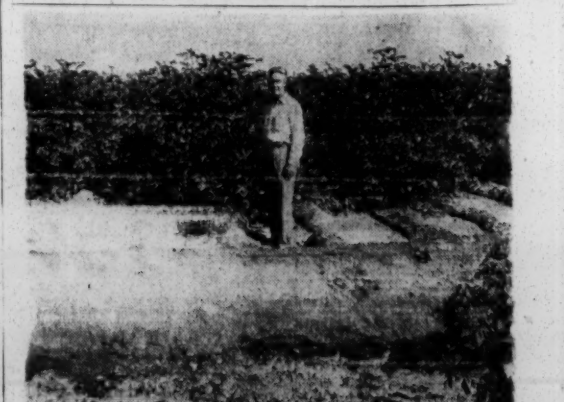

Irrigation through water pumping, the most reliable man-made form of crop insurance, is becoming increasingly popular in drought-ridden Mississippi as delta and hill growers alike cash in on this revolutionary new boon to agriculture.

As business men, more and more farmers realize they must insure precious crops against drought, just as merchants insure their merchandise against fire and damage. Irrigation provides life-giving water for every phase of the crop—moisture for germination, to nurture crops through a dry spell and to keep them growing to early maturity for sale when prices are highest.

Weather bureau records in Mississippi show that in 39 of the past 40 years, irrigation would have paid off for crops and pasture lands in this area. The national Congress, realizing the importance and the need for irrigation, has recently made available federal loans for water supplies and irrigation systems up to $25,000 per individual borrower.

Such federal loans may be used for paying, cash costs of materials and equipment necessary for irrigation. This includes construction of terraces, dikes, ditches, ponds, wells, water pumping equipment, which is in good supply and available in convenient terms in many instances. Easy to install and operate, natural gas engines seem to be an overwhelming favorite in areas where low-cost natural gas is available. In this connection, gas utilities of the state are now offering special piping installations to growers interested in irrigating with gas equipment. Officials and agricultural leaders urge Mississippi growers to investigate the advantages of crop irrigation, pointing out "that it costs nothing to consult dealers and experts. Free estimates and recommendations may be obtained free of charge. Facts and figures on crop irrigation systems now available should convince even the most skeptical that this revolutionary new form of crop insurance pays rich dividends," one FHA official emphasizes.

This is cotton as it looked at the worst of this summer's drought. Of course, this crop was grown entirely under irrigation.

Notice To Dealers In Supplies Of Proposal For Bids

Sealed bids are hereby invited by the Board of Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Grenada, Mississippi, for sale to said City of the following items, and upon the following terms and conditions:

"Farm of the Week" — Last Week

—This Series Sponsored by Jitney-Jungle, Grenada.

The farm headquarters shown last week is variously known in and about Grenada, as the Rhodes place, as the Dave Dogan place and, in recent years, as one of the many places in the county owned by the county's biggest landowner, W. H. Kirk.

The house was built when Dave Dogan owned the place. Way back in the past, it was probably owned by the Mundy family because the gap in the hills immediately west of the house is known today as Mundy Gap.

It is located about four miles west of Grenada on Highways 7 and 8, located on the southern edge of the Yalobusha River Valley. The entire place contains about 1100 acres. It is devoted to cattle and hogs in the parts adjacent to the highway but a lot of new land, devoted to cotton, has been opened up from the woods closer to the river which threads thru this section of the county. However, about all one can see from the highway are fenced pastures on which cattle and hogs graze.

The house is occupied by Mr. Trusty who looks after the property. Mr. Kirk, who owns it, lives near town, but on 51 Highway.

Facing the house, but across the highway is the end of a ridge. On this ridge, back about 40 or 50 years ago, there lived many members of the Rhodes family, brothers, sisters and children. There were at least eight houses, each containing a Rhodes, on that ridge. The last Rhodes that the writer remembers was the late Jack Rhodes, dead a good many years ago. His widow, Mrs. R. J. Rhodes, now works at the Grenada Theatre, while his only daughter, Miss Christine, works at Revell's. Whatever became of all of those Rhodes who lived there on that hill, I just don't know.

Your nickel is worth almost seven cents today... if you spend it for electricity. In 1939, it took 6 2/3 pennies to buy the same amount of electric service you can buy today for only five cents! While your nickel today will buy only half as much food, clothing, transportation, or housing as in 1939, it will buy over 1 1/3 more electric service.

This amazing decrease in the cost of your residential electric service has been made possible through the adoption of improved methods of generation and transmission, through more efficient and economical operating practices, and through increased usage of electricity on the part of our customers.

450 Attend Rural Telephone Day Ceremonies In South Mississippi

MAGNOLIA—A crowd of approximately 450 attended ceremonies held Thursday at the Centerville Consolidated School celebrating the inauguration of rural telephone service in a wide area of Pike County east and south of Magnolia. The area includes the Centerville and Woodrow communities.

The new facilities cost approximately $40,000; will provide telephones for about 140 rural homes and business houses in the area; and all will be connected to the Magnolia exchange, G. W. Maxwell, McComb Group Manager for Southern Bell, told the big crowd assembled to hear the addresses delivered by men and women of prominence in state and community affairs who were on the program.

"The network of rural telephone lines we are placing in service here today," Mr. Maxwell said, "is a sequel to the story told at a similar celebration held at Smithdale last April. Like the Smithdale project, the one here is part of a series of rural telephone jobs in the Pike, Lincoln, Amite and Waltham county area, designed to give this section one of the state's most complete rural telephone systems."

In the principal address of the evening, J. M. Phillips of Jackson, Mississippi, Manager for the telephone company, said: "Southern Bell has spent more than a million dollars for rural telephone expansion in this general area alone since the end of 1945. This has enabled us to provide a ten-fold increase in the number of telephones serving farm homes and rural business establishments in the counties mentioned by Mr. Maxwell."

"All of this is part of an overall plan of rural telephone improvement which Southern Bell has been following here in Mississippi for the past nine years," Mr. Phillips continued. "All these years of work along with an investment of over 15 million dollars of new money in these facilities has resulted in raising the number of rural telephones in the state from 8335 in 1945 to more than 46,000 today."

The celebration was sponsored by citizens of the Woodrow and Centerville communities. A. M. Strickland was chairman of the organization committee and also acted as Master of Ceremonies. The program began at 7:00 P.M. and was followed by a delicious buffet supper served by the ladies of the communities.

Musical entertainment was furnished by the Harmonizers of the Magnolia High School Glee Club, led by Mrs. Elsie Barron, school's Vocal Music Director.

The invocation was asked by the Reverend O. W. Wardlaw, Pastor of the Magnolia Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Gladys Simmons, Chairman of the Woodrow Grass Roots Committee delivered the address of welcome to which Mayor O. W. Phillips, of Magnolia, responded.

The Honorable B. D. Statham, Senator for Pike and Franklin Counties made a brief address.

Other speakers were C. A. McKinney, Chairman of the Centerville Grass Roots Committee, and W. R. Bunn, of Hattiesburg, Southern Bell District Manager. V. Y. Felder, President of the Pike County Farm Bureau placed the first long-distance call over the new facilities. He talked with R. E. Stubbs, Southern Bell Vice-President in Atlanta, Georgia who is a native of Covington County, Mississippi.

The entire program was recorded and broadcast later over the facilities of McComb Radio Station WAFB.

Mail Early For Christmas Postmaster Suggests

Postmaster Donald Sharp believes that with a three-cent stamp your Christmas cards will win more friends and influence more people than if they are mailed with a two-cent stamp.

"First-class postage," he explained today, "is the best Yuletide insurance you can get. With it your greetings will be processed and delivered quicker. And they'll be forwarded, or returned, if it becomes necessary. They may contain written messages too.

None of these postal privileges are authorized at the third-class rates when mailed for 2 cents.

Equally important is the necessity for early mailing. Christmas cards addressed outside the state should be mailed by December 16. Local delivery requires mailing at least a week before Christmas.

The postmaster urges everyone to tie their Christmas cards in two separate bundles, with each address facing the same way. Then attach the postal labels marked "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out of Town Delivery". These helpful tags are available at the Post Office, with out cost, and will shorten delivery time greatly.

Parcel Post, of course, should be mailed even earlier. The postmaster recommends Dec. 10th for out-of-state gifts, and Dec. 16th for those with local addresses. But the sooner the better.

Size and weight limitations for parcel post vary according to place of mailing and destination. In some cases, packages cannot exceed 72 inches in length and girth combined, nor 30 pounds in weight. In others, the limits are up to 100 inches combined length and girth, and 70 pounds in weight.

Poorly wrapped packages are another risk to avoid. Mailing cartons of corrugated fiberboard offer excellent protection. Stuff them with wads of tissue or newspaper to cushion any shock. Then use a heavy wrapping paper and strong cord tied over and under several times.

Gift packages may not be sealed, unless the return address and this notice appear: "Contents Merchandise—May be opened for postal inspection." Christmas seals and "Do Not Open Until Christmas" stickers may be used, but place them on back of the parcel, leaving the address easy to read.

As a final precaution, Postmaster Sharp suggested, "Write oth your return address and the recipient's address on the mailing carton before it's wrapped. We'll do our best to protect them, but the Christmas mail should be heavy this year, and those packages may have a long way to go."

Valuable gift parcels should be insured.

nada County will still held at the City Hall in Grenada Monday night, December 6, 1954.

A total of $600.00 in cash awards will be given to the winners in the various projects. The money for the prizes has been donated by various businesses and individuals interested in the promotion of boys and girls work.

Mr. C. I. Smith, State 4-H leader from State College will be the guest speaker for the occasion.

DRY AS YOU PLEASE

Few families owned a washing machine a few years ago. It was considered a luxury. But when women realized how much back-breaking labor they could save themselves, the idea of owning a washer gained momentum.

With all this advance in washing technique, the old method of drying is looking up. The automatic clothes dryer was introduced and today is recognized as a necessity—not a luxury.

The advantages are numerous. You can wash and dry clothes when you please and as dry as you please—whether it is an emergency or not. You can wash with a hot water, which is a fact that because of the weather it may take days of washing in the winter.

With the steam you save yourself with heavy back-breaking loads of clothes, clothes are dried from the washer to the dryer with a minimum of effort. Clothes are not subjected to wear and tear from clothespins or violent winds. Fabrics are not stretched by hanging and there is no fading of colored fabrics from the sun. An ultra-violet light within the cylinder provides the fresh, sweet fragrance associated with drying clothes in the sunlight.

The time used in drying depends on the efficiency of the wringer or spinner, the kind of material to be dried and the size of the load. Combining different textiles in one load will affect the drying time. For example, rayons hold moisture longer than cottons, and bath towels longer than sheets and pillow cases. If you have large loads, you may prefer to separate different types of cloth and dry like pieces together. Where small loads are done daily, it may not be practical to separate the different articles for this type of drying. In general, any combination of garments or cloth than can be washed together can be dried together.

For general efficiency and short drying time, overloading is to be avoided. Just as overloading lessens the efficiency of a washing machine, so it does with the automatic dryer.

If you have found it difficult to do your washing and ironing in one day, the automatic dryer can change your laundry habits. This is true because many things formerly needing pressing or ironing can now be folded and put away wrinkle-free just as they are removed from the dryer. Fine garments needing ironing are easier to iron because they retain their original shape better and have fewer wrinkles. Another factor important for ironing ease—and successful ironing begins with the washing process—is that you can set the timer at the exact time you want for the load you are drying. They can be either all dry or damp dry for ironing. This is so superior to sprinkling that you'll wonder how you ever managed without your automatic electric dryer.

The garments are damp all-over with just enough moisture in difficult areas as such as seams where you need additional moisture for a good ironing job. If ironing the same day is not in keeping with your plan of the day, just roll up the pieces and store them in a plastic bag, preferable in the refrigerator.

Bath mats, cheese spreads, Turkish towels and in general, all cotton pile fabrics are best if they are removed when they are almost bone-dry. You'll like the way your nice tufted rugs, spreads and towels come from the dryer. They look just as they did when they were new—soft and fluffy with the original shape.

You will be amazed when you see how the children's jersey shirts and socks come out of your automatic dryer. Remove them when they still have just a tinge of moisture and stretch them into shape. They can then be folded and store away.

Mrs. W. T. Clarke, wife of the Presbyterian minister here has been in Memphis at the Adult Cripple Hospital to receive specialist attention for an injured knee, and on last Thursday Rev. Clarke took his little daughter Lucinda to Dr. Moore Moore, Jr. bone specialist with offices at Methodist Hospital in Memphis for an injured knee. After returning home Lucinda injured her other knee.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 2 PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION OF STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

House Concurrent Resolution No. 2

A Concurrent Resolution submitting and Amendment to Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Mississippi, so as to add an additional section thereto, to be numbered "Section 213-B", authorizing the Legislature by two-thirds vote of those present and voting in each house to abolish public schools and authorize the counties and school districts to abolish public schools, sell and dispose of school buildings, lands and other property, and make appropriation of public funds, and do such other acts and things deemed necessary to aid and assist educable children of this state to secure an education.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi, the Senate concurring therein:

Section 1. That there be and is hereby submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Mississippi for their approval or rejection, in an election to be held in accordance with Section 273 of the constitution of this state, on Tuesday, the 21st day of December, 1954, the following amendment to Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Mississippi, to be numbered and inserted therein and added thereto as "Section 213-B":

Section 213-B. (a) Regardless of any provision of Article 8, or any other provisions of this constitution to the contrary, the legislature may authorize the establishment, support, maintenance and operation of public schools.

(b) Regardless of any provision of Article 8, or any other provisions of this constitution to the contrary, the legislature shall be and is hereby authorized and empowered, by a two-thirds (2-3rds) vote of those present and voting in each House, to abolish the public schools in this state, and enact suitable legislation to effect the same.

(c) Regardless of any provision of Article 8, or any other provisions of this constitution to the contrary, the legislature shall be and is hereby authorized and empowered, by a majority vote of those present and voting in each House, to authorize the counties and school districts to abolish their public schools, and enact suitable legislation to effect the same.

(d) In the event the legislature shall abolish, or authorize the abolition of the public schools in this state, then the legislature shall be and is hereby authorized and empowered to enact suitable legislation to dispose of school buildings, land and other school property by lease, sale or otherwise.

(e) The legislature may appropriate other provisions of this constitution state funds and authorize counties, municipalities and other governmental subdivisions and districts to appropriate funds, including poll tax and sixteenth section funds, to aid educable children of this state to secure an education.

(f) The legislature may do any and all acts and things necessary for the purposes of this section and this section is declared to be, and is, supplemental to all other provisions of this constitution, and legislation enacted under authority hereof shall prevail, whether in conflict with other sections or not.

Section 2. Said election for the submission of the aforesaid amendment shall be held in every election precinct of this state on said Tuesday, the 21st day of December, 1954. Notice of said election shall be given as required by the constitution and same shall be held agreeably to the general election laws of this state, and said amendment submitted therein in the same manner as amendments to the constitution are submitted in regular general elections held in this state.

Adopted by the House of Representatives September 10, 1954.

Adopted by the Senate September 16, 1954.

Little Jimmie Sorrells, a handsome young fellow from Memphis, dropped in with his mama, a mighty pretty, handsome young matron Monday to pay the family subscription.

Last week's issue of the Webster Progress had a published list of the allowances made by the city board there. It is a strange thing of the law that, while most official bodies of the state are required to publish what they do, with the money, towns seem to be exempted. Who ever heard of, for instance, Grenada publishing anything that anybody got? That omission, I think, of a defect of the law itself.

We plan to publish during the next week or two a list of the election of officers who are to hold the important election on the 21st of December. If you don't know how to vote, please ask somebody smarter than I am.

MOBILE COMMUNICATIONS CENTER STATE'S ANSWER IN EMERGENCY

Recently two convicted killers, awaiting sentence of death, who escaped from their jail at Jackson, caused apprehension and worry throughout the entire state until their capture and return to the Hinds County Jail by officers of the law.

To most people the mechanics of throwing up roadblocks in order to prevent escape of these men, Minor Sorber and Gerald Gallego, from the area in which they were believed to be confined did not mean anything. But to the individuals of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, sheriffs, policemen and posse members concerned with locating and capturing them, the problem of knowing just where every roadblock was situated, who was there, who was in charge, what personnel and resources were available; all these were items of supreme importance.

The emergency communications center, recently developed by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol in cooperation with the Mississippi Civil Defense Council proved to be the answer to one all-important phase of this man hunt. This was a centrally controlled and co-ordinated system of communications. Communications have not always been readily available in Mississippi when disasters occurred.

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol for a number of years has maintained a small portable unit in a trailer which they could haul to the scene of a disaster and from which they could maintain communications within a limited area. The ice storm in '51, the hurricane in '47, the recent tornado in Vicksburg in December of 1953, have served to emphasize the need for a central communications control and operating center.

Long before the Vicksburg disaster occurred the Mississippi Civil Defense Council in cooperation with Colonel T. B. Birdsong and officers of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol began planning for such a communications center. This unit is now a fact.

It has been seen and examined by thousands of Mississippi people, both adults and boys and girls, and many are aware of the tremendously vital part this unit can and does play in times of emergency.

The development and use of this unit illustrates very definitely a conclusive fact about Civil Defense which has not been understood by many persons. That fact is that the Civil Defense Program is equally as vital to bringing the resources of a community, area, district or state together in time of disaster, whether that disaster be the escape of convicted murderers or a tornado swooping down on a town and leaving dead and injured in its path.

The emergency communications center shown above is Mississippi's answer to emergency and disaster situations which may occur in peace or war. This completely outfitted, self-sufficient mobile center is on 24 hour call for helping track down criminals, cope with storms, floods or other emergencies, or for use in case of enemy attack.

The base radio network of the Mississippi Safety Patrol consists of nine base stations, each with three thousand watts power, and located approximately one hundred miles apart throughout the state. All of these base stations are equipped with automatic electric generating equipment at the transmitter sites and at the control points.

These serve to take care of the normal needs of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol and now the emergency communications and control center serves to fill the spot of having a powerful transmitter, or a series of transmitters, located in a self-propelled vehicle. This unit can be brought into use whenever it is necessary to co-ordinate and control requests for aid and utilize all resources available to cope with the effects of disaster. Able to travel at a speed of sixty miles per hour, this unit can soon arrive at the scene of a disaster.

Another facet of this type of unit lies in the fact that in event of disaster the control of the resources, manpower, equipment, personnel—whatever is needed at the scene of the disaster can be directed from this emergency control center as it is traveling to the scene of the disaster.

To the technically minded it should be pointed out that this emergency control and communications center is powered by a 10,000 watt generator so that it will not be dependent upon power from any source. This generator which is 110-volt A.C. gasoline driven, is mounted in the rear of the vehicle and can be controlled from the driver's position. The equipment contained in the communications and control center consists of a 250 watt base station transmitter which serves as a movable base station on the Highway Patrol network. It has a 60 watt mobile unit of the Highway Patrol Network which it uses while in transit, an amateur type transmitter in the 30-40 mc band, a 60 watt transmitter in the 40-50 mc band and two transmitter receiver combinations in the 150-170 mc band. This provides a total of seven transmitter-receiver combinations which can be simultaneously operated at a disaster scene or on the way to a disaster. This is enough to adequately serve almost any conceivable purpose. Through a system of interchangeable crystals it is possible to plug in the crystal of any radio frequency and be in contact with the stations or vehicles operating under that particular frequency. For example, such organizations as the police, the forestry (State and Federal), power companies, petroleum, taxis, railroad, special emergency and special industrial stations and mobile units in the FM bands as well as amateur Civil Air Patrol and others. Approximately 100 such 2-way radio frequencies will be available for use through the utilization of this emergency control center system.

Gilley-Hill Vows Said Here On Thanksgiving

In a setting of simplicity and dignity Thursday, Miss Catherine Tyner Hill, daughter of Mrs. John L. Hill and the late Mr. Hill, was united in marriage to Robert Charles Gilley, son of Mrs. Ora Gilley of Derma, Miss., and Frank M. Gilley of Booneville, Miss.

Relatives and close friends gathered in the Youth Chapel of Grenada Methodist Church at 9:30 a. m., with Mrs. W. A. Lomax presenting appropriate background music preceding and during the ceremony.

A dark blue velvet backdrop formed an effective setting for the exchange of vows. Exquisite golden wall candles, holding white tapers, were placed at either side of the backdrop, which was centered with the beautiful white and gold altar. Adding to the beauty of the scene were the pulpit and prie-dieu finished in white with faint amethyst tones. The Rev. Felix Sutphin, pastor of Grenada Methodist Church, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a white brocade fall ensemble. The waist-length fitted packet featured tiny covered buttons, and the street-length skirt was styled with pointed yoke. Navy blue accessories and a delicate white orchid corsage completed the picture of loveliness.

Miss Ruth Spears, maid of honor and the bride's only attendant, chose for the occasion a blue fall frock with which she wore blue accessories and a white carnation corsage. Best

HOMEMAKERS WITH SMALL FAMILIES FIND NEW MEAT PLAN HELPFUL

Homemakers with smaller families are finding better meat buys with the new plan of buying one cut of meat to make three fresh cooked meals. The larger cut of meat is divided by the meat man into three parts, and each piece is cooked differently to make a single meal.

To illustrate this plan, suppose the homemaker wishes to apply it to shopping for beef. She chooses a thrifter cut, beef chuck. She has the meat man divide the larger piece into three. The first piece she requests the meat man to grind, and with this she will serve delicious Steak Sandwiches for the first meal from the beef chuck.

The second third of the beef chuck is cut into cubes for a good, old-fashioned Beef Ragout. The third piece is sliced for making Swiss Steak as a third fresh cooked meal from the same piece of chuck. Each meal is different in style of cooking, and incidentally the three meat dishes for which the recipes are included with this article, illustrate three different ways to cook a thrifter cut of beef.

Choice of Methods for Cooking Beef

When less tender beef is ground, it can be broiled, as for Steak Sandwiches. Other methods of cooking thrifter beef cuts are braising and simmering. These are more leisurely methods of cooking that repay the cook with meat of good flavor and juicy tenderness. To braise meat, as for Swiss Steak, the meat is browned thoroughly in its own or added fat in a heavy skillet with a tight cover. A little liquid is added, the skillet covered, and the meat cooked slowly at low temperature. Same Nutrition in Every Cut Every cut of meat, no matter what the cost or kind, contains the same high quality complete protein, B vitamins and essential minerals. With the new plan of buying for three meals at once, and dividing the cut for varied cooking, shopping time is saved, meals are planned more intelligently, and the one price paid for a larger cut of meat often means savings compared to buying small amounts of individual cuts.

STEAK SANDWICHES
1 pound ground chuck
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
4 1/2 inch thick slices bread
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Combine beef, salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Toast bread slices on one side; spread uncooked side with meat mixture, being careful not to leave any of the bread exposed. Do not pack down. Sprinkle chopped onion over the top; dot with butter. Place on broiler rack 3 inches below heat. Broil 5 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

Beef Ragout
1 1/2 pounds chuck
2 medium onions, sliced
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons cold water
2 tablespoons lard
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup sour cream, optional
Have beef cut in 1-inch cubes. Melt lard in heavy skillet. Add meat and onion; cook until meat is brown. Mix Tabasco and water; add with salt and paprika to meat mixture. Cover tightly and simmer until tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Add flour blended with the two tablespoons cold water and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in sour cream, if desired. Serve with hot rice. YIELD: 4 servings.

Swiss Steak
1 1/2 pounds chuck
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons lard
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 medium onions, sliced
1 1/2 cups tomato juice
Have beef cut into slices. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Sprinkle meat with half the flour mixture; pound with the flour remaining flour into other side. Heat lard in skillet, add onions; cook until light brown, remove. Add meat and brown well on both sides. Put onion rings on top of meat. Add tomato juice; simmer 1 1/2 hours, or until meat is tender. YIELD: 4 servings.

man was Proby Gamrell.

Mrs. Hill, mother of the bride, wore a wine suite with black accessories. Mrs. Gilley chose for her son's wedding a becoming brown ensemble.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for Memphis, where they enjoyed their wedding dinner, served buffet, in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Lacy Chanley. Co-hostess with Mrs. Chanley was another sister, Mrs. W. W. Williford, also of Memphis. Members of the family and the wedding party were guests.

Following a short wedding trip to Nashville, Mr. and Mrs. Gilley are at home at 375 Levee Street, Grenada.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Ellis of Stafford, Texas announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Gloria Helen Ellis to Thomas Roy Chamberlain of Grenada. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Chamberlain.

Miss Ellis was graduated from Missouri City High School in 1951 and from Draughon's Business College in 1952. She is presently employed by Super Chief Manufacturing Co. in Houston, Texas as secretary and book keeper.

Mr. Chamberlain was graduated from Gore Springs High School in 1951. After serving two years in the Air Force he is now employed at Grenada Industries.

A late December wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hill and little son of Jackson visited their mother Mrs. John Hill here last week when they attended the marriage of their sister Miss Catherine Hill and Mr. Robert Gilley.

Mrs. John Hill returned home from Memphis Sunday after a visit in the homes of two of her daughter Mrs. Williford and Mrs. Chanley.

Guests here during the Thanksgiving holidays of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Biens were their father, Mr. Charles Werling of Decatur, Ind. and their son Richard Biens and family from Clarksdale, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Bryant of Memphis and M-Sgt. and Mrs. Wm. C. Patridge of Eglin AFB, Fla. spent Thanksgiving and the weekend in

FARM HOME LIGHTING

One of the top items on many farm wives list of home improvements is a new modern kitchen. In addition to the latest labor-saving devices, farm homemakers who are looking forward to new kitchens want abundant, well-placed light that will give their kitchens an easy-to-work-in-daylight appearance.

However, you don't need to wait until you remodel to perk up the lighting in your kitchen. An inexpensive way to give even the most drab kitchen a lift is by adding light where you need it—at the sink, range and dining areas—with moderately-priced pin-up lamps.

A pin-up lamp (with a 100-watt bulb) over the stove not only improves the appearance of the room, but also makes it easier to see in the pots and pans when cooking. Miss Webber of General Electric advises that the lamp be hung low enough so that you can't see the bulb when standing in front of the stove. You'll want another pin-up lamp over the sink, too, for easier seeing when washing dishes or cleaning vegetables.

If you have a dining table in the kitchen, try placing it in one end of the room and use a pair of pin-up lamps (with 75-watt bulbs) on the end wall.

When choosing new pin-up lamps for the kitchen, Miss Webber suggests that you select ones with diffusing bowls. They'll not only give softer lighting than ones with bare bulbs, but will also prevent the shades from becoming askew.

When your kitchen has been remodeled to include the new fluorescent lighting over the sink, range and work areas, these pin-up lamps will be right at home in a bedroom.

Out of Depths

Lesson for December 5, 1954

THE worst trouble is not what most people think. When you say "If the worst comes to the worst," what do you mean? You usually mean that if it comes to losing your job, or if we are defeated in war, or if you lose your health, or die. The inspired men who wrote the Bible did not think such events were good; they did not pray for them to happen but rather Dr. Foreman that they would not happen. Still, as we saw last week, even in the midst of terrible troubles they could sing because they knew that God is over all and they felt themselves, on his side, at his side.

Breaking With God

But what happens when a man cannot feel that he is on God's side? How does it feel to know God is against you, not for you? How does it feel to be on the other side of a wall from God? Some of the Psalmists had been through an experience which we call by the simple name of Sin. Now sin is not merely single acts, it is the whole dark business of breaking with God. Sin is the state of things when a man and God are no longer partners. Sin is losing the one support a man can count on in time of trouble. If the worst comes to the worst, it is not death or pain or failure that is most to be feared, it is being alone and lost in the world without God. God never breaks with a man unless the man has broken first. But when a man has as good as acted as if there was no God at all, when he has as good as said to God, "Go your way and I'll go mine," when he has done what God does not want done and failed to do what God wants done, when he has refused God's help, refused to associate with God's people, refused even to speak to God, what can God do with such a man? He could blast him out of existence in a twinkling, or he could compel his obedience, but God does not operate that way. In the simple, chilling words of St. Paul, Romans 1: God "gives up" such a man. He lets the man go his own way.

Without Hope

So long as a man is unaware of his sin in God's sight, he can be pretty gay. A good many jolly people have gone the broad road to destruction. But once a man begins to see that there is a break between him and God, once he realizes what he has done, he enters the most terrifying experience it is possible for human beings to have. For now he knows... and how can he mend it? How can he come back? If God were his friend he would not fear any enemy, any trouble, any disaster. Even death would only bring him to the presence of his heavenly Father. But what if he has thrown away and despised the friendship of God? What if death only brings him face to face with the condemning judge? A man who has become aware of what sin is, what his own sin is, knows that unless God can do something about it, he is without hope in this world or the next. It is of no use to believe in the victory of eternal love if he himself has been fighting on the wrong side. Even if he makes a complete turn-about this very day, what about all the worse-than-wasted days before? He has done the damage, he has let loose evil in the world. Unless God comes to his rescue he is truly lost; but what claim has he on God? Why should God bother with him, a man who has never bothered about God?

'Thou Hast Delivered My Soul'

Those who have known and loved God best have thanked him for many blessings; but like the Psalmists of old, the greatest blessing and the one which underlies all others and makes them bright, is the forgiving love of God. God's forgiveness is not at all the same thing as looking the other way as a careless policeman might when a driver runs through a red light. It is not God's saying that it really makes no difference. It is God's unquenchable love reaching across the gulf between himself and us who have sinned. Three things we need to remember about this; one is that God's forgiveness is never forced on any one, never promised to those who do not turn from their sins to God. One is that when a man has known the real forgiveness of God he shows it in a changed life.

Paralyzed Mississippian Carries On Paying Business By Telephone

GULFPORT—"Bill" McEniry, of Handsboro, almost totally paralyzed from his neck down is using his bedroom as an office and his bed as a desk to carry on a successful magazine subscription agency, with the aid of his telephone which was equipped especially for his use by local representatives of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Telephone Company representatives, accustomed to doing everything possible to serve customers, took a particular interest in solving the unusual angles presented by the case of this boy who is so eager to help himself. After considerable study, it was decided that an operators' headpiece could be laid on his pillow, or his mother, whom he calls his "faithful secretary" might attach it to his ear.

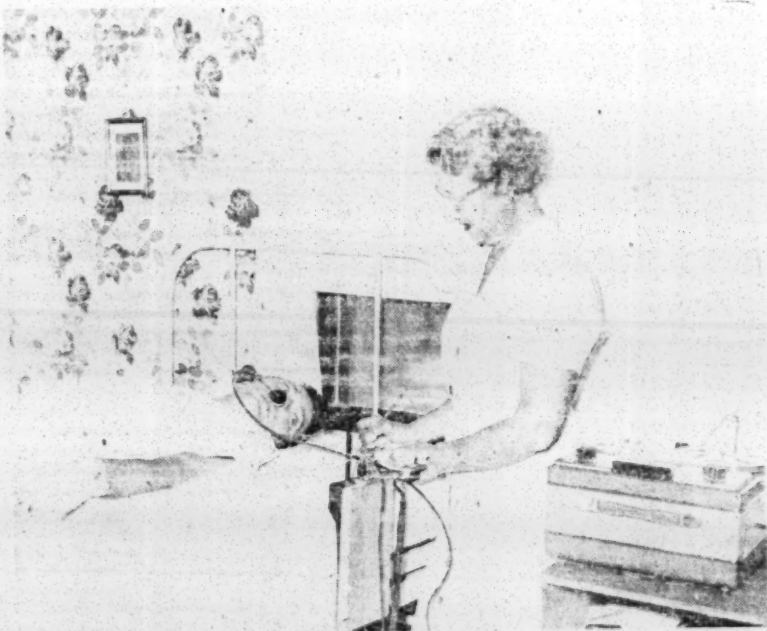

Since Bill is unable to move any portion of his body except his left shoulder, it was obvious that steps must be taken to enable him to place his calls and to record addresses and other data when a call results in the sale of a subscription. The trick of determining how to do this required considerable study and work by Southern Bell people.

As a result of their work, Bill McEniry's telephone is equipped with a key which he can use by a movement of his left shoulder to signal the operator. Also connected with his telephone line is a tape recorder which he can operate by the slightest movement of his elbow and thus record any portion of his telephone conversations.

From time-to-time during the day now Bill's mother plays back the tape recordings and prepares the orders which are increasing rapidly now due to the happy quality of Bill's telephone voice, and the universal desire everyone has to help those who help themselves. The circulation managers of several popular magazines are helping to increase his business by sending him the names of many whose subscriptions are up for renewal and this year he has taken on Christmas Cards as a sideline and is soliciting orders for them by means of his telephone hook-up.

Bill's paralysis which is almost total, was the result of an accident that occurred in the summer of 1950 when he was working on an excursion boat and went swimming with a group off Ship Island. The real cause of his disability may never be known. He dived into water of ample depth and struck no obstacle, yet he may never be able to walk again.

Bill's telephone is only one of several thousand installed by Southern Bell last year to serve Mississippians, but it's a mighty important factor in his life. It is enabling him to become an active useful citizen again, with a business of his own and a growing bank account.

Magazine Agent Bill McEniry takes orders by means of a telephone equipped especially for his use by Southern Bell representatives.
